

Galata Tower Shone with the Light of TEKNOFEST

One of Istanbul's ancient symbols, Galata Tower, this time witnessed a dream reaching the skies. This magnificent tower, where Hezarfen Ahmed Çelebi made history centuries ago by taking flight, hosted the promotion of TEKNOFEST Istanbul, the world's largest aerospace, space, and technology festival.

In a special show referencing the passage of time, the longing for the high values of our civilization was expressed in every grain of sand, emphasizing that this longing is fulfilled through TEKNOFEST. The journey from roots to the skies began with Hezarfen Ahmed Çelebi's courageous step, carried forward by young people in red jackets with crescent and star emblems, believing that "The Future Awaits Us," and culminated in a magnificent finale at TEKNOFEST Istanbul.

In the promotional film projected onto the walls of Galata Tower, which drew great attention from Istanbul residents, Turkey's social media platform NSosyal was featured for the first time in history, projected onto the tower's stones. This visual feast in the heart of Istanbul will continue to meet the people of Istanbul on the evenings of September 16–17.

Get Ready for a TEKNOFEST Surprise on the Bosphorus

The excitement of TEKNOFEST does not stop there. On the evening of September 16, the festival will prepare an unforgettable surprise on the Istanbul Bosphorus. A laser projection on the 15 July Martyrs Bridge and Fatih Sultan Mehmet Bridge will display the invitation "Will You Come to TEKNOFEST with Me?", illuminating the sky and offering Istanbul residents a unique visual spectacle.

TEKNOFEST, one of the biggest steps in Turkey's journey in technology and science, will open its doors at Atatürk Airport from September 17–21 under the motto "Because You Are the Future". Visitors from all over Turkey and the world are invited to take flight into the future together at this great gathering.
